

Honfleurais Jacques Bégin to Burlingtonian Janet Bégin

St Leonard Church, Honfleur, France

There was already a sanctuary in 1186 on the site of the present church. Most of the church was burned by the Huguenots during the wars of religion in the XVI century. Most of the building was rebuilt in the XVII and XVIII centuries which explains the particular form of bell tower dome, rare in Normandy, but that evokes those encountered in eastern France.

The interior is decorated with murals and the ceiling of wooden timbers.
